

We are Pro-All-Life

We want to prevent abortions and so much more,

- We want to support families, dual and single parent families.
- We want to prevent hunger and poverty.
- We want to prevent illiteracy and decrease mortality.
- We want a living wage for all people who work, and healthcare, and food on our tables.
- We want people in the “bad neighborhoods” to have great schools and teachers, grocery stores, and healthcare just like people have in the “good neighborhoods.”
- We want no guns in the hands of kids or criminals or those with mental illness.
- We want to end racism and prejudice and bigotry and homophobia.
- We want to end suicide.
- We want to end the death penalty.
- We want to end inequality because all women and men are born with the same unalienable rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. .
- We need to work hard to understand each other, not just tolerate each other.
- We embrace and celebrate the diverse swath of Humanity here and abroad of those who don’t look, speak, or worship the way we do.
- We want people to live and work and worship and love as they desire.
- We want religious freedom for all people: Christian, Jews, Muslims, Buddhists, Hindus, Atheists, Nones... You name it. For everyone, everywhere.
- We welcome immigrants who are fleeing oppression, poverty, and war we will never understand, as well as those seeking to live in and contribute to our great country.
- We want to care for the terminally ill and the mentally ill by helping them carry their oversized burden.
- We want to prevent forced prostitution and human trafficking.
- We want so much more....

We are pro-all-life because all life is sacred; from when a heart begins beating, while it beats, when it struggles to beat, and up until it ceases to beat.

We defend and work to support all life equally. We celebrate all life fully. We protect all life passionately. We love each other.
